I have read the procedure and I permit Dr. [DOCTOR] to perform the gastroscopy and to insert a percutaneous gastrostomy feeding tube.

I understand that aspiration such as pneumothorax or aspiration risk for an immobile person followed by certain complications related to aspiration and aspiration into the lungs or gastric contents (a usual complication for pts) could occur.

I understand that severe diffuse peritonitis (approximately 1%)

A local incisional infection (3 - 5% of cases) may occur.

I understand that hemorrhage at the puncture site of the abdomen where the tube will be inserted.

The gastroscopy will be followed by the placement of a gastrostomy feeding tube.

WARNING: The following risks:

This procedure is characterized by the

- Percutaneous Endoscopic Gastrostomy

- Division of Gastroenterology

- Department of Medicine

- Hospital General JGH

- UNIVERSITY OF MCGILL

- UNIVERSITY OF MONTREAL